FILIFE PEDROSA
VP OF SALES & MARKETING
AMTROL-ALFA | WORTHINGTON INDUSTRIES

Exhibitor at LPG Week 2021/Dubai
Exhibition Booths 137-140

Amtrol-Alfa, part of Worthington Industries, is the leading LPG cylinder manufacturer in Europe (steel and composite cylinders), and a world reference in quality, safety and innovation.

LPG Week News: Thank you for taking the time to talk to the LPG Week News. Could you tell us what made you decide to become an exhibitor of this year's LPG Week in Dubai?

Filipe Pedrosa: Thank you for the invitation. LPG Week has always been a reference and well-respected event in the sector. Being the first face-to-face tradeshow after the COVID-19 pandemic lockdown, LPG Week will be a good place to meet with multiple worldwide partners and to discuss the future needs of the LPG industry, aligning our offering to enhance its growth. Also, it has always been the place by excellence to launch Amtrol-Alfa's innovative cylinders.

LPGWN: What are your thoughts on the key opportunities for LPG in the UAE and beyond?

FP: The new regulation for transportation, storage, and distribution for LPG in Dubai, based on protecting the environment and society, which will certainly expand in the region, is fully aligned with our strategy and products, which fulfill high standards of safety and security.

LPGWN: What specific products or services will you highlight this year at your booth? Or anything else that you would like to share with the readers of LPG Week News.

FP: This year we intend to highlight sustainability and environmental concerns. We will be presenting our full range of LPG cylinders, with special emphasis on our Type III and Type IV Composite Recyclable Cylinders - CoMet and Fourtis, and on our High Strength Steel Lightweight Cylinder known as XLite.

Considering that full industry will be reunited in Dubai, we will take the opportunity to launch a new breakthrough solution that will allow relevant logistics savings to the LPG industry and a straight connection with the end-user.

LPGWN: What message do you have for the attendees to the exhibition in Dubai?

FP: LPG Week will be the reconnecting place for the full industry after a long time without physical events. The LPG industry is playing an essential role to help overpass the COVID-19 pandemic and it is time to analyze the lessons learned and a good opportunity to discuss the future needs of our industry and to overview the best that is being done in the business.
